

A SYSTEMATIC CLASSIFICATION OF THE PATTERNS OF DROUGHT STRESS OCCURRED IN AGRICULTURAL LANDS

Kohtaro Iseki<sup>1</sup> and Ryutaro Tateishi<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Genetic Resources Center, National Institute of Agrobiological Sciences (NIAS)

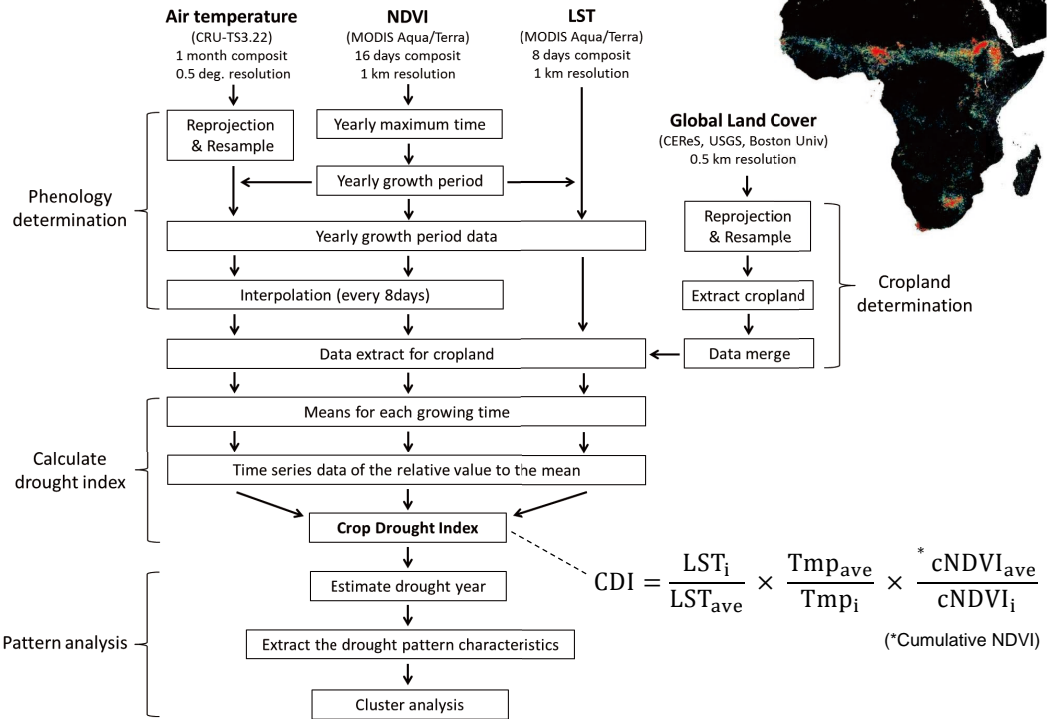

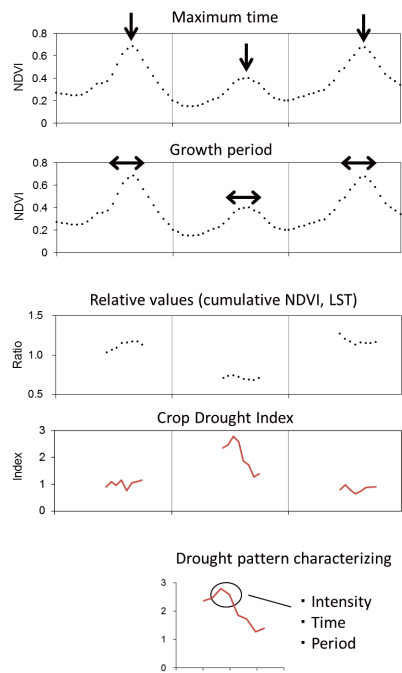

<sup>2</sup>Center of Environmental Remote Sensing (CEReS), Chiba University

Objective

We developed an improved analyzing method for evaluating drought stress occurring in cropland, and used it for identifying the possible pattern of timing, intensity and duration of drought stress for each geographical region.

Methods

Results

